

We are looking for you!

Unsolicited application

„Projects run smoothly when the spots are well aligned.“

gailus.ORG

Business consultancy for Occupational Health Management (BGM), Diversity Management and Corporate Culture

About the company

In order to develop a coherent, healthy, and successful corporate culture, gailus.ORG offers its clients tailored expertise, process, and systemic consultancy. Leveraging our diverse project experiences and tools, we think laterally and provide impulses, pathways, and implementers for organizational development.

We aim to be the most effective partner for project implementations within the sphere of health-oriented organizational design. The focus at gailus.ORG is on the further development or restoration of organizational competencies, with the individuals within the organization remaining the centerpiece of our efforts.

We are committed to inspiring and incentivizing our clients by providing them with current knowledge and networks, contemporary methodologies, and proactive impulses. We accompany our clients in a collaborative manner, oriented towards their processes. Our collaboration and consultations should, where possible, promote steering competencies within the companies and among their employees. Our areas of action include Occupational Health Management (BGM), Occupational Reintegration Management (BEM), and Diversity Management.

These are your tasks if you choose to join us:

- You design new and innovative pathways in project management and also implement them.
- You lead and manage independent projects in a collaborative manner.
- You actively support organizations and/or companies in their self-development.
- You actively contribute to our team as a team player.
- You provide process and expert consultancy in the areas of Diversity and Health Management.

You're in the right place with us if you...

- Have completed your studies, ideally in the field of health sciences, psychology, social sciences, business education, intercultural & change management, or similar.
- Ideally have some professional experience.
- Have completed additional training in communication or systemic work and thinking.
- Are a motivated employee who wants to explore and shape new creative paths with intuition, heart, and mind.
- Consider good communication skills and a high level of social and emotional competence among your strengths.

You can expect:

- A 50-100% position with an indefinite employment contract and a fixed salary based on TVÖD 12.
- Flexible working hours with time tracking and the option for remote work.
- Structured and intensive onboarding.
- Internal training, coaching, and support for your professional development.
- Warm collaboration within a competent team, working innovatively and enthusiastically in the health and diversity management market.
- Rapidly increasing and significant involvement in the development of the company's gailus.ORG office.

Have we piqued your interest?

Are you eager to join the consulting firm gailus.ORG in the three pillars of project consulting, workshops for b2b concepts, and training for stakeholders in companies?

Then send us your meaningful application to Sarah Löhle-Güler at s.loehle@gailus.org. Maybe try something different? For example, a video application?